[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO NOVEMBER 27.

The Great Bridge at Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 27.—A span of the Ohio River Bridge over the Indiana channel was swung on its bearings this morning. It is four hundred feet long, and the largest erected in America.

Nashville Dispatch.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 27.—Long Brothers' chain factory was damaged by fire last night. Loss $60,000. A hundred persons are thrown out of employment.

Judge S. S. Nicholas formerly Chancellor and a prominent and wealthy citizen died to-day.

Newfoundland Opposed to Confederation

ST. JOHNS, Nov. 27.—The Newfoundland election resulted even more favorable to the anti Confederates than was at first supposed. Full returns show 21 anti-Confederates to 9 Confederates elected.

Cuban News.

HAVANA, Nov. 27.—The Diario to-day comments on a dispatch published in the New York Tribune yesterday telegraphed hence that the Spanish fleet has been ordered to rendezvous near New York harbor and that President Grant has ordered United States vessels of war to cruise near said harbor. It refutes the statement that any Spanish fleet has received orders to go to New York, and characterizes the story as the invention of the friends of the insurgents. It says that the Tribune's object is to excite the American people against Spain, and advises its friends among Americans not to place reliance on such rumors which are started by conspirators and published for the purpose of producing circulation.(?)

Advices from the interior are that hunger and misery prevails to an alarming extent. The column under Colonel Hidalgo, lately found a hut in the vicinity of Palma Sorriana containing the lifeless bodies of eight person who died of starvation.

Important Legal Question.

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—A case came before Judge Lowell of United States Court to-day, the point of which is whether the United States Assessor can compel citizens charged with false returns of personal income to show the books of any corporation in which they are concerned. It is said if the points are decided in the affirmative the case will be still further tested upon the point that a United States Assessor cannot compel a citizen charged with fraud in income returns to produce his private books.

Libel Suit in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—J. M. Cass has sued the Times for $10,000 damages in libel for publishing in August last an affidavit made before a court charging Cass with embezzlement and commenting thereon editorially.

More of the Erie Difficulty.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Another suit is brought against the Erie Company by Rogers of the locomotive works at Patterson New Jersey, charging that exorbitant freights have been demanded from Patterson to Jersey City. The suit involves the question of a violation of the charter of the road obtained from the Legislature of New Jersey.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Lesseps, Chief Engineer of the Suez Canal, publicly denies the unfavorable reports recently circulated about the enterprise. He calls attention to the fact that in ten days no less than fifty vessels have sailed safely through the canal and back.

MADRID, Nov. 27.—The government has announced its intention to restore the constitutional guarantees.

Advices from the Philippine Islands state that a conspiracy has been discovered in Manila. Many arrests have been made. The principal person implicated committed suicide, when the scheme was frustrated.

The Republican deputies who recently absented themselves from the Cortes returned to-day in a body.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The differences between the Porte and Khedive of Egypt will probably be compromised. On the other hand, the Journal (official) of Paris to-day, says that assurances that the Porte has sent an ultimatum to the Khedive, and that several vessels of the British navy are ready to sail for Alexandria.

Dispatches from Cork, Dublin and Tipperary report several Fenian demonstrations in various parts of Ireland. To-day at Tipperary and Clonmel, the proceedings were riotous. Fenian songs were sung by the mob while marching in procession. Several houses on the line of march were stoned.

At Cork the partisans of Rossa celebrated his election to Parliament by a torchlight procession and other proceedings. Everything passed off without disturbance.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 27.—Two steamers, the Messageries and the Imperiale of 2,400 tons burthen, have safely passed through the Suez Canal. The success of the canal seems no longer doubtful.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 27.—The official newspaper to-day publishes the following: The ratification of the sale of the island of St. Thomas to the United States Government has been postponed for six months.

AN OLD LAWYER.—An English paper says. The longevity of great lawyers, and their vitality at an advanced age, often furnish a theme for wonder; and by the speech which he delivered in the House of Peers last night, Lord St. Leonards has added another to the list of achievements which we link with the advanced years of such men as Brougham and Lyndhurst. Lord St. Leonards is 88 years of age. He is old enough to have some faint recollections of the French Revolution. When the battle of Waterloo was fought he was more than 30 years of age, when the first reform bill was passed he was more than 50, and by the time that the corn laws had been repealed he was already an old man. He has lived through the reigns of the first as well as the third Napoleon. He has seen the Administrations of Pitt, Liverpool, Portland, Sidmouth, Canning, Grey, Peel, Russell, Palmerston, Derby, Disraeli, and Gladstone. His memory extends over nearly, the whole of a most eventful century. And yet, in spite of his exceptional age, and of the hard work which he had to endure when at the bar, he last night spoke for 55 minutes. His voice, it is true, was low, and his articulation somewhat indistinct, but he exhibited flashes of his old fire and vigor. The subject of his speech was a protest against the design of the Government to apply the surplus suitors' fund of the Court of Chancery to the building of the new law courts.

A MOTHER TO HER DAUGHTER ON MARRIAGE. You are now, my beloved child, about to leave those arms which have hitherto cherished you, and directed your every step, and at length conducted you to a safe, happy, and honorable protection, in the very bosom of love and honor. You must now be no longer the flighty, inconsiderate, haughty, passionate girl, but ever, with reverence and delight, have the merit of your husband in view. Reflect how vast the sum of your obligation to the man who confers upon you independence, distinction, and, above all, felicity. Moderate, then, beloved child, your private expenses, and proportion your general expenditure to the standard of his fortune or rather his wishes. I fear not that with your education and principles, you can ever forget the more sacred duties so soon to be your sphere of action. Remember the solemnity of your vows, the dignity of your character, the sanctity of your condition. You are amenable to society for your example, to your husband for his honor and happiness, and to heaven itself for those rich talents intrusted to your care and your improvement; and though in the maze of pleasure or the whirl of passion the duties of the heart may be forgotten, remember, my darling child, there is a record which will one day appear in terrible evidence against us for our least omission.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

The San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad Company, to run from Saucalito to Humboldt Bay, has been incorporated. Capital, $8,000,000.

ADDRESS

By [illegible] at the Dedication of Odd Fellows' Hall, at Oregon City Nov. 2[illegible], 1869.

FRIENDS, SISTERS AND BROTHERS OF THE I. O. O. F.: We have met under most favorable circumstances and have erected in this Hall a shrine, and dedicated it to the holy principles of Friendship, Love and Truth.

We most heartily wish that this communion of soul, this commingling of spirit may strengthen the bonds of our union; that in after years as you look back over life's journey, Memory will dwell on this scene with joy.

It is well at such a time to pause and review our past history as members of this great Brotherhood—to scrutinize our acts and determine whether they have been at all times and under all circumstances consistent with the wise teachings of our Order—to resolve that for the future, our lives shall be more fully dedicated to searching out and relieving the want and misery of our fellow men—to inculcating the doctrine and faith peculiar to our beloved Order, and thereby to increase the great aggregate of human happiness.

It is meet that we should also recall briefly our history as a lodge. On the 31st day of October, 1853, the Grand Lodge of the United States granted a charter to Bros. S. M. Black, W. P. Burns, Moses Cain, Simon Cain and Charles McCue to form a subordinate lodge at Oregon City. On the 26th of December following, Bro. E. M. Barnum, acting as G. M., assisted by Bro. Thomas Charman acting as Grand Marshal, Bro. Arthur Warner acting as Grand Treasurer, and Bro. A. Cohen as acting Grand Scribe, instituted a lodge at Oregon City, and Oregon Lodge No. 3, of the I. O. O. F., came forth to bestow rich blessings on every hand, with Bro. W. P. Burns as first N. G.; Bro. Chas Pope, first V. G.; Bro. Amory Holbrook, Secretary. Of these Bro. W. P. Burns, after filling with honor the highest offices in our State Grand Lodge, withdrew and removed from the jurisdiction.

Bro Amory Holbrook has been transfered to another and better world. Bro. Charles Pope, only of all the elective officers of that first term remains with us. The Lodge used to meet then over what is now the Enterprise office, across the street. In 1855 or '56, the Lodge moved into a Hall over Dr. Steele's Drug Store, in Dr. McLoughlin's building, situated where the Woolen Factory now stands. On the 1st of January, 1860, the building was destroyed by fire. The Lodge lost all of its property, except the Bible and Charter, which were saved by Bros. Charman, Bacon, Slover and others, at the risk of their lives. Thanks to the Brothers we have that same Charter and blessed Bible from whose sacred pages so many men have learned to love the principles of our Order. These two are the most precious jewels of our Lodge room. The one bring us in subjection and harmony with our lawful superiors, and through them with the entire Fraternity of the world; the other teaches the lessons of Divine Wisdom, the practice of Benevolence, Charity and toleration, upon whose solid basis the whole superstructure securely rests. No wonder our noble hearted Brothers would risk their lives to save to us such mementoes as these.

The Masonic Order invited the Lodge back to its old home after the fire, and Samaritan Lodge No. 2, our elder sister, kindly furnished a [illegible] and again Oregon Lodge was launched forth on its mission of love. This is not the only instance of being kindly remembered by our elder sister, who should be named Good Samaritan. This beautiful copy of God's Holy Word is an evidence of the interest in our welfare, which has ever been ready to assist us in time of need. May the names of "Samaritan No. 2," just over "Oregon No. 3," on this Book, live to tell coming generations of our love and fidelity to each other.

This Lodge long had in contemplation the erection of a building for Lodge purposes; but not until late in the year 1868 was any definite action taken that promised success, when a corporation under State laws was formed by brothers of this Lodge with a capital stock of $8,000, all of which was speedily taken; Directors elected, a contract let, and in less than one year you behold the result. This beautiful structure, ornamented with the mystic emblems of our Order attest the energy, skill and perseverance with which Odd Fellows have labored to build themselves a sanctuary to be forever devoted to the elevation of men and thereby to the worship of the true and living God. A few short months ago and the component parts of this beautiful structure were separated far and wide. As if by magic they are brought together, molded, fashioned, fitted, united and cemented in one harmonious whole, each part filling the space designed by the architect, so that what before was stone in the mountain, lime in the quarry and iron in the ore has become purified and molded into the similitude of a temple—in which we meet for the diffusion of benevolence and charity.

Its basalts of stone, rough, unseemly, without polish; but placed on the solid rock-ribbed earth and cemented together, it gathers strength from age and exposure and becomes a firm foundation for this noble structure.

So Odd Fellowship, born of man's necessities in the crowded haunts of the Old World, among the lowly and humble; nursed and cradled in an ale house, it retained for a time some of the peculiarities of its humble parentage; but because of the immutable truths it contained it grew and flourished and has become a solid base on which reposes a society, a brotherhood, a fraternity whose principles, precepts and practices will last till that period yet hidden in the womb of time, when the Angel at the command of Jehovah, with one foot upon the land and one upon the sea, shall proclaim that time is no more.

Odd Fellowship was transplanted to our shores a little more than a half century ago. It soon threw off its swaddling clothes and began a career of prosperity unparalleled. To day from the ice bound North to the sunny South, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in every city, in every town, in every valley all over the length and breadth of the Great Republic are scattered the temples of our Order. Nor is it alone in our Republic they are found. The inhabitants of British provinces join us in swelling the numbers of this hourly increasing army. A million hearts bound together, flowing warm with generous impulses for good, a million hands ever ready to succor a brother in time of need, and feeling fettered by the narrow confines of a continent, it poises on our Eastern shore ready to sweep across the Atlantic and infuse its noble purposes in the Saxon blood of the Fatherland. And, yet, there are those living in our own State who beheld the first public demonstration in these United States. It was in the city of Baltimore that those few strange men, unknown to fame, habited in a strange garb, wended their way quietly through the streets, the wonder of all who beheld them.

Above the base we have the Lodge room, a part of the building open alike to the world, plain, neat, without ornament, simple, substantial. This might represent us in our intercourse with the world—plain, simple, frank, honest and open hearted. But above this and nearer the heavens is the crowning glory of the edifice. This hall with its complex paraphernalia of a Lodge room, represents the inner sanctuary, the holy of holies of our beloved Order. Here the thoughts and emotions dwell, here new and living impulses for the good of our common race take shape and form and go forth to bless the world. Before the man of the world can enter here he must approach and reverently acknowledge the Supreme Creator and Ruler of the Universe, the author and preserver of his being. He must consent to learn lessons of wisdom from this sacred book. He must recognize man as a constituent part of one great family. If there be in his heart anything that would deny to his fellow man all that he claims for himself, let him not intrude here. If there be anything in his soul that would prevent him from learning the Golden Rule, or from practicing its holy precepts, permit him not to desecrate the sanctuary.

We have dedicated this hall to the holy, pure and righteous principles of Odd Fellowship. Would it not be well, my brothers and sisters, for us to dedicate anew our hearts and lives to the same great and noble purpose? To remember that as we have received the gifts and blessings of our Great Ruler without stint and in rich profusion, in the same manner and for the same purpose, our love to our fellow man—we ought, as faithful stewards, dispense the bounties we have received, not with that cold calculating philosophy which would stop and ponder as to whether if the unfortunate brother had walked more circumspect he would have needed assistance, and while thus waiting a fellow man perishes; but acting from the noble, generous impulses that spring from the divine emotions within our hearts, make haste to the field of carnage after the death-dealing missiles are done with their hellish work, bind up the wounds of friend and foe alike, place them side by side and deal out to [illegible] the aid they need as if they were brothers. For He sendeth the rain upon the just and the unjust, and [illegible] the sun to shine upon the righteous and the wicked. "The duties of Odd Fellowship end not here. The chain of earthly fellowship may be broken; but some of its severed links remain in the [illegible] of the stricken widow and helpless orphan. Odd Fellowship repairs the desolate home, refills the cruse of oil, and replenishes the empty barrel. Over the night of desolate widowhood it [illegible] with a sympathising care, and binds up the broken heart with the assurance that her fatherless children will be protected and educated." What misery and suffering is endured by poverty when sickness prostrates the [illegible] supplied the home with plenty.

Loved ones are in want, no friendly footstep crosses the threshold of the obscure hovel to which he has fled to conceal [illegible] would the bitterness of his poverty. O! the [illegible] of the hot tears that blister his fevered cheek as he nightly kisses the parched lips and looks upon the famine pinched faces of his [illegible] go supperless to bed! Who can tell the [illegible] of his heart when the wife of his [illegible] over him with her pale [illegible] face and as she wipes the fever-drops from his brow, and [illegible] the sublime strength of woman's [illegible] whispers resignation and hope. But what has he to hope for his loved ones if God should call him away? Nothing. The wife a [illegible] widow—his children [illegible] and it may be for a life of shame or death of [illegible]. But how different the scene if he had been within the reach of our beloved Order. [illegible] never have entered his door; sympathising friends would watch around his sick bed, and he would close his eyes in death with the [illegible] assurance that his family was left in the [illegible] of brothers whose constant duty it is to protect the widow and educate the orphan."

"My Brethren, this work in which we are engaged, cannot be [illegible] but will continue to [illegible] down all opposition till nation after nation shall embrace and the name of our beloved O[illegible] will be heard wherever civilization [illegible] race."

What a magnificent system! Love to God [illegible] to man—how sublime the thought! [illegible] and sect which [illegible] we hold no fellowship; religion [illegible] not bar the door; we receive no [illegible] hindrance; but all may [illegible] worship at this shrine of Friendship, Love and Truth. [illegible] Odd Fellowship is [illegible] to the grand design of elevating the whole family of man, we hail the Order as the true friend of the [illegible]

[illegible]
For her our [illegible]
For her [illegible]
Till toils [illegible]

In the language of another, I say, hail, Odd Fellow, "Friend of the human race!" Be [illegible] thy glory and thy [illegible] High [illegible] thy position among the [illegible] responsible are the duties it involves. The friends of Odd Fellowship, and its foes alike will look to your example and [illegible] you. Be faithful to the [illegible] friend, Be faithful [illegible] laws require, and to your [illegible]. May your course be full of [illegible] and joy [illegible] and when your own star shall set [illegible] may it set as sets the [illegible] down behind the dark [illegible] West, but melts away into the bright[illegible]

INDUSTRIAL [illegible]

Hyam Jennings, of San [illegible] (Cal.) has patented a device whereby the friction of car wheels on railroad curves is avoided.

The lands of the Kansas Pacific Railway are being sold with [illegible] rapidity [illegible]. In the month of October, 1,600 [illegible] were sold to actual [illegible] for $77,231. The Company has over five millions of acres still for sale.

The California Pacific have applied for a quo warranto against the California and Oregon railroad, claiming that the latter have forfeited their charter by frauds in the organization and by failing to spend ten per cent of [illegible] within two years.

It appears from the Re[illegible] that there are only about 440 [illegible] now in operation, although the [illegible] reached about 1,400. There are in addition, of course, an unknown number of illicit stills, but they are being fast red[illegible]

The receipts for Internal Revenue for eleven days of the present month, [illegible] $9,342,836 37; for the entire month of No[illegible] last year, they were but $9,341,204 63. For the present month they will [illegible] 000, an excess, over the same month last year, of $4,000,000.

We have heard a good deal about the efforts making at the South to induce [illegible] to seek that quarter. The report made by the [illegible] of a society which has sent a number of emigrants, mostly Germans, to South Carolina is not very encouraging. The Germans, it [illegible] are rather timid about going there.

The St. Louis Republican tells of a [illegible] cotton planter who by skillful and profuse manuring managed this year to raise seven [illegible] of five hundred pounds [illegible] on six [illegible] of land. This was done in a part of the State where the average per acre is but a quarter of a bale. By ordinary cultivation he should have picked a bale and a half of inferior cotton, short in staple, from his six acres. With manuring gets eleven times as much, of a superior quality.

POLITICAL.

Miss Julia C. Addington ran against a Mr. Brown for the office of County Superintendent in Mitchell county, Iowa, in the recent [illegible], and received just as many votes as her competitor. They cast lots and she won.

Governor Palmer has appointed John J[illegible], of Chicago, well known as a wealthy colored man, a notary public. This is the first instance in which the natural political rights of negroes have ever been recognized in Illinois.

Official returns of the election in Wisconsin show that the Senate will stand 18 Republicans, 14 Democrats, 3 Independent, two of the latter being Democrats. The House will stand 55 Republicans, 38 Democrats, 7 Ind[illegible]

A Democratic orator in New York city, the other evening, declared that the principles of his party were as "old as the stars" and as "unchanging as the moon." Democracy compared with the moon is excellent. The moon changes twice every month. It waxes and it wanes. Democracy waned under Buchanan, and has been "waxed" ever since.

French official journals sympathetically announce that Napoleon is now, by order of the Court physician, limited to an ascetic diet of beefsteak, oysters and chocolate. His case is almost as pitiable as the ex President of the late Southern Confederacy, when in the hands of the "Northern vandals," and immured in the loathsome dungeon of Fortress Monroe.

A despatch to the press from Chicago, a few days since, gave a false impression as to the result of the election in Minnesota. It was stated, and probably with truth, that the vote for Governor was so close that it might require the official count of the votes to decide who had been elected. But it was not added, which was equally true, that the rest of the Republican State ticket was elected by several thousand majority. Several causes, not least among which was the erratic and officious meddling of Mr. Donnelly, operated to reduce the vote for Judge Austin, but the full strength of the party was generally given to the rest of the candidates.

The Daily Oregonian

TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 30, 1869.

A Question as to Means, Not as to Ends.

The Corvallis Gazette, being an advocate of stringent prohibitory legislation and a believer in the doctrine that such legislation can be enforced and the great evil of intemperance thereby cured, is pained to observe indications of somewhat different opinions in the OREGONIAN. Now we believe quite as strongly as the Gazette that intemperance is a terrible curse. This paper, moreover, is as ready as any other to labor for the promotion of the principles of temperance. The only point on which it could differ from the Gazette would be as to the methods employed to promote the temperance cause. The Gazette thinks stringent prohibitory laws the sovereign remedy. We are compelled to entertain a different opinion. So far, such legislation, wherever it has been tried, has been followed by a reaction in which the cause of temperance has suffered greatly. For instance, a moderately restrictive law can be maintained and enforced in Massachusetts, but a stringent law cannot. When a stringent law is abolished the danger is that the thing will go to the opposite extreme. They who wind up the authority of government very high should remember that there is always danger that it will run down too low. Nothing but a uniformly moderate course can prevent such sudden jumps from extreme to extreme.

Speaking of recent elections in those States where prohibitory legislation was directly or indirectly in issue, the Gazette says: "The Republican party was not content to rely upon the sober, intelligent, moral class for support, but supposed by stealing a little 'Democratic thunder' and joining its fortunes to that of the 'whisky ring,' that victory would be inevitable." With due deference to the Gazette we must say that this is not a fair statement of the case. Take the State of New York for an illustration. The Republican party there was willing to rely on "the sober, intelligent and moral class for support." On that class it has always relied. During the long period of its power in that State it enacted various laws to control the liquor traffic, always going as far as public opinion would warrant. These laws were of such a nature that they could be enforced, and though they did not suppress the traffic in liquor they greatly restricted its abuses. But the zealous prohibitionists were not content. This year they determined to demand of the Republican party more stringent legislation. Impressed with the idea that all it was necessary to do to banish ardent spirits from the State was to enact severe penal laws against the traffic, they sent a delegation to the Republican State Convention with a demand that this principle should be incorporated in the Republican platform. This was a step the Republican Convention could not take. The party was willing to stand by its former action on the liquor question, but could not take the new position demanded by the ultra prohibitionists. It would have been political madness to do so. The Republican Convention simply reasserted the former doctrines of the party on this subject. It did not try to steal any "Democratic thunder." It did not join its fortunes to that of the "whisky ring." But the prohibitionists, because they could not force the party to their position, became dissatisfied; they were lukewarm in the canvass and many of them refused to vote in the election. The consequence is that a Democratic Legislature is elected which, as Gov. Hoffman already announces, will sweep away every vestige of the restrictive legislation heretofore enacted by the Republicans. How much do the advocates of prohibition suppose they have gained by this result? If it is their opinion that the liquor traffic can be suppressed by such movements as this, it will be the part of wisdom for them to continue in such a [illegible].

In Massachusetts the Republican party was victorious because it is too strong to be beaten on any issue. But the license men have a strong majority in the Legislature and will repeal the prohibitory law and constabulary act passed last year.

In a recent article we said that the policy of the prohibitionists in sacrificing what they have in the hope of gaining more, is short-sighted. The Gazette retorts by saying that "the shortsightedness has been on the part of the party leaders," in that they have not pronounced unqualifiedly for prohibition and fought it out on that line. Now the question of liquor prohibition is too narrow for any great party to stand on; and, as public sentiment has nowhere reached such a state as to create a general demand for stringent prohibitory laws and to cause a popular movement in favor of them which would secure their enforcement, no party which has in view the general purposes of government can undertake to build on such a foundation. Politicians and statesmen must take human society as they find it. They must study its nature, consider its elements, and take into view all the various conflicting interests and opinions that appear in its organization. They who aspire to control public sentiment can succeed only by going to some extent with it, and seeking not to arrest it abruptly and turn it backward, but gradually to change its direction, and thus bring it as nearly as possible to the desired object. Will the Gazette understand that we do not "gibe the friends of temperance," but that while we are as ardently in favor of temperance as it can be, we must differ with it as to the method by which thorough temperance reform is to be effected?

In General.

The New York Observer says that the membership of the united Presbyterian Church is 431,463. Of these 258,903 were of the Old School, and 172,560 of the New School. At the time of the separation, thirty-one years ago, the whole membership of both Churches did not equal the present number of those constituting the New School.

People are not satisfied yet about the Onondaga giant, and it is proposed to cut him up and see what there is in him. If, as his owners claim, he is a dead body, he is a case for the coroner, who ought to take possession of him. By sawing the "individual" through the body it would be easy to tell whether he is a petrification or a statue. The New York Herald demands that "crowner's quest law" be invoked, so that it may be known whether the man who slew the giant did it in self-defence, or not.

So soon as the editor of the Herald has recovered from the terrible effects of Harper's cartoon we expect to hear from him an agonizing wail over the announcement that a brother-in-law of the Portugese Minister at Washington is about to marry the daughter of a colored restaurant keeper of that city. Here, indeed, is a subject worthy of his highest powers. For our part we simply say that the Portugese dignitary is exhibiting what appears to us as exceedingly bad taste,—quite as bad, in fact, as that which was seen once in a Democratic Vice President of the United States.

A correspondent thinks we were mistaken the other day in stating the position taken by the Catholic Telegraph of Cincinnati, in regard to the public schools. That we may do no injustice we reproduce the exact words of that paper. After stating that the first chapter of the controversy had closed with the exclusion of the Bible from the schools, it said: "The second chapter will open with agitation against the law itself, in the name of justice and the right that both Protestants and Catholics have to positive religious instruction in separate schools. If the school laws be modified to secure denominational education for all, Catholics will cheerfully pay their portion of the school fund. If this wise amendment cannot be made, taxation for school purposes must cease." This course would make the schools wholly sectarian, and it is for this reason that we disapprove of it.

The Supreme Court lately decided a case in favor of the Government in which over $7,000,000 was involved. The case grew out of claims for "commutation for officers' servants." It rested on the forced construction of a law (the one of June 20, 1864) which raised the pay of privates. An officer, by an act passed half a century ago, is allowed for each servant to which his rank entitles him, the pay, rations and clothing of a private soldier, or money in lieu thereof. When, in 1861, the privates' pay was increased, it was specially provided that the increase should not apply to the officers' servants; but when, in 1864, the pay was again increased, this exception was not repeated, it not being thought necessary. It was on this omission that the claim was founded. Of course, it had not the shadow of equity to support it, and now the Court decides that it had not a shadow of law. The Court of Claims had previously allowed this extra commutation, and hence an appeal was taken. The present decision is final.

FRESHEST GLEANINGS.

A man who clearly has much leisure and bad judgment has translated the autobiography of Andrew Jackson Davis into German.

Some boys in Cincinnati stole the insides of a hand organ from a deaf grinder's machine, and the man grinds away ignorant of his loss. He gets as much money and tortures the ears of passers far less.

The supply of subjects for dissecting purposes in the London medical schools, is becoming so scarce that it is feared the students will desert them and seek their professional education on the continent. The scarcity is attributed to the stringency of the "Anatomy act," and the doctors call for its repeal.

The Marietta (Ohio) Register says that Paul Tibbets, of that city, in boring an oil well on Duck creek, near Newburg, drew out sound butternuts from fourteen feet below the surface, and one hundred and ninety feet down obtained two pieces of slate which had on them beautiful impressions of fern leaves.

Several of the London papers had their articles on Lord Derby in type before he died, and some of them printed obituary notices in advance. One weekly remarked that the Earl was not dead, but that he would be, probably, before the paper reached its readers, and then proceeded to speak of his Lordship in the past tense.

The Mormon organ in Salt Lake City thinks that "it can without egotism be claimed for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, that it has done more in the forty years it has been in existance, and especially of late years, toward liberalizing the religious world and breaking down many barriers, than any other system extant."

In Dayton, Ohio, recently, an old man named Arris, celebrated the approach of his golden wedding by a fight with the antique partner of his joys. Getting worsted in this little jubilee the old fellow plunged into the hydraulic race. An inconsiderate looker on pulled him out, and he returned home a good deal wetter, but probably not a wiser man.

"Ah, sir," said an Exeter bookseller one day to a stranger who asked some questions about the late right reverend prelate of that diocese, "'e's always in 'ot water, like the troubled waves of the hocean;" and it was even so. Some twenty pages of the British Museum catalogue record the titles of the works, nearly all polemical, of this ecclesiastical pugilist.

We have now enough iron-clads in the neighborhood of Cuba to blow the whole Spanish navy out of the water if it was concentrated there. The object of the administration is to have a large force on the West Indian station while trouble exists between Spain and Cuba, so that should any emergency arise whereby our Government might become involved, we could make short work of the Spanish navy.

A Washington despatch says: "The Pacific railroads will be thoroughly discussed when Congress convenes. There is deep dissatisfaction among Western members with the report of the government commissioners, and it is called a "whitewashing affair." It is currently charged here that the Union Pacific company have never spent all their money upon the road, but that a very large percentage went into the pockets of the stockholders."

The committee interested in the erection in Washington of an equestrian statue of General Grant, have obtained sufficient encouragement to warrant the beginning of the work. The statue is to be of bronze, cast from cannon captured by General Grant, and will be colossal in size. The pedestal is to be of granite, and the statue will be erected on the terrace on the south front of the Treasury building. The cost will be about fifty-five thousand dollars.

It is reported that the cholera is raging with severity at the city of Kiev, in Russia. This city is on the Dnieper, one of the rivers of the Black Sea, up which in 1831-2 the Asiatic pestilence marched towards the Baltic, thence to the British Islands, and thence across the Atlantic to Quebec and New York. Perhaps the dreaded monster of Hindostan may be again progressing through Russia on a similar raid. If vigilantly watched, however, his march may be checked.

A recent telegram from Omaha says: A letter from Colonel Emory, of the Fifth Cavalry, dated from Fort McPherson, Nov. 8th, says: Three Sioux were recently found suspended from a tree and riddled with bullets. On the body of one was found a letter from a woman signed, "Your sister, Carrie Warner," and dated "Morris, N. J., May 8th, 1869." A man named Warner belonged to Buck's surveying party, which is supposed to have been massacred; and the finding of this letter under such circumstances leaves little of doubt regarding the fate of the entire party.

The Milwaukee Wisconsin has this item: "Among a party of immigrants, who came through the city yesterday, was a lady 93 years of age, who, it was claimed, served as a vivandiere with Bonaparte from 1800 to 1815, participating in the famous Moscow campaign. She was drafted from the district of Hanover in Germany, and was discharged with the rest of the great Napoleon's army. She is on her way to join some relatives near Winona, Minn., and appears to be as equal to the long trip as the younger members of the party. She has earned rest and quiet for the balance of her life."

It has been decided under the internal revenue law that all Englishmen by the name of Hale, who are engaged in the business of pronouncing the same without the H, shall be considered as manufacturers of 'ale, and must pay the license required of brewers and distillers.

As evidence that American ideas are getting a foothold in Italy, a correspondent cites the fact that American rocking chairs are now in high favor, although when first introduced by American families they were looked upon by the natives as something ridiculous.

THE WEST.

The California Labor Exchange during October employed 528 persons. Over 21,000 have been similarly aided by the Exchange since its organization.

Dakota is growing rapidly. Nearly a million acres have been taken this year under the pre-emption and homestead laws. A colony of Wisconsin farmers is mentioned as among the latest arrivals.

A company of Eastern fishermen, who came out in their fishing smack from Massachusetts, last year, lately returned to Port Townsend, from the Alaska coast, with a cargo of codfish, and sold cargo and vessel to a Port Townsend company for $7,500. They have started home, disappointed with the results of their operations.

The lady leader of a Sunday school choir in Deer Lodge, Montana, lately started the tune of "Marching up Zion's Hill" on so exalted a pitch that none of the little voices could reach the upper notes. At the close of the first verse this young lady turned to the superintendent of the school and inquired: "How is that for high, anyhow?" and then calmly started the tune on a lower key.

The following from the Solano (Cal.) Democrat, is a pleasing specimen of the California style. The person referred to is the Judge of that county: We tell this self confessed coward, this moral leper, this political chyster, this burlesque upon manhood, this miscellaneous abortion, this ear-rageous pup, he shall not erect his avowed non combativeness into a barricade behind which to skulk and hurl his stink pots at us.

The Alta tells of a new copying book just introduced into San Francisco. It is known as the "Penn Letter Book," and needs no press in taking copies. It is so arranged that by using the ink that is manufactured for the purpose, a simple pressure of the leaf over the letter to be copied is sufficient to take a very good impression. No water or other liquid is used, except the ink, and the whole process is so simple and effective that the book must displace all others in use.

The ship Cowper, laden with 1,614 tons of coal sailed from Nanaimo for San Francisco on the 20th November. On the following morning she ran on a reef at one of the many small Islands in those waters. Every effort was made to get her off, but without success. By the morning of the 22d there were seven feet of water in her hold, though the pumps had been kept going steadily. Her Captain sent to Victoria for assistance, but it was feared she would prove a total loss. She is owned by Rosenbaum and Birmingham of San Francisco, and with cargo is valued at $55,000.

We take the following from the San Francisco Bulletin of the 17th: The following shows how slender a thread life hangs upon: Judge Baldwin was dining with a friend at a restaurant called The Mint, on Saturday last, and related to a friend that he missed going home that morning, (Saturday) by his forgetting to wind up his watch, which having run down, had stopped at five o'clock. Not noticing the stoppage, he said he thought he would take another sleep. On waking up again, of course, he found out his mistake. He said to his friends, "I will go over to Mayor Felton's, stop all night, and be ready to start in the morning." He did so, and the result is known. If he had wound up his watch before going to bed, he would not have been on the train, and his life would have been spared.

GENERAL LEE'S COLLEGE.—A correspondent of the New York Sun recently visited General Lee's college, in Virginia, and talked freely with its officers and students. He says their belief as to what is going to become of the Union is somewhat like this:

It is rotten, and will go to pieces of itself. The West is restless; the South was never satisfied. The next clamor for secession may come first from the West; but what fool thinks that the South will then be quietly slumbering?

He says the teachers "without giving actual utterance to a single phrase that can be pointed out as treasonable, may in the course of an hour's lecture convey more peculiarly Southern ideas to their classes, than they could with three weeks' undisguised oratory to a class of Northern boys." In short, he says:

General Lee's college seems to be performing on a larger scale at the present day, the same work of intellectual propagation which the genius of John C. Calhoun and his colleagues performed among the young of the South a quarter of a century ago.

REJOINDER.

TO THE PUBLIC.—Several Agents of Life Ins. Companies made a publication in reference to "Correspondence" had on the payment of Policy No. 13,404 to the widow of A. E. C. Miller, pronouncing the correspondence "gross misstatements."

The statement of these Agents who attack us, is as cool as it is incorrect. If they have a desire to give the public the "official letter" they refer to, they can have the use of it for publication. IT MAKES NO SUCH STATEMENTS AS THEY PRETEND TO QUOTE FROM IT. We have it on file and any gentleman who wishes can see it by calling at our office.

These agents of other companies further say: "When he (Miller) found that he had a surplus in the Company, which had been accumulating from dividends for several years, he concluded to allow that amount to be applied to the payment of his premiums until it was exhausted," they then state:

"Face of Policy ... $5,000 00
Add cash to his Cr. at time of death ... 221 00 — $5,221 00
Deduct notes given to the Company ... 570 50"

They thus in one place assert the Policy to have a surplus to its credit, but when they figure (figures tell the truth) they make the Policy in debt to the Company and deduct the indebtedness. They further say that the Policy "would have been carried not only to the date of Mr Miller's death but in any first class company for years without any additional payment," AND STILL THEY FIGURE IT ALL RIGHT TO DEDUCT $349 50 AFTER ONLY SIX MONTHS, AND PAY $4,650 50. If their statements be true the Company should have paid more than the face of the Policy.

We respectfully ask every citizen who holds a Policy in a company any of these gentlemen represent, to read it and see whether if he fails to pay his premium on the very day it falls due if it is not declared to be null and void; THERE IS NO SAVING MASSACHUSETTS CLAUSE IN IT. Mr. Miller's annual premium was $163. He paid the same half cash and half note. At the time of his death four and a part of the fifth notes had been cancelled by his dividends and returned to him, the Policy was indebted for the balance on notes and interest to 21st Jan, 1869.... ....$175 76
Premium due and NOT PAID on Jan. 21, 1869... 163 00

Total charges ... 338 76
Add interest from Jan. 21st to Aug. 24 ... 10 74

Making Amount deducted from face of Policy 349 50

[In refutation of the statement made that 1,406 Policies "forfeited" in 1868, we refer to the same Commissioner [illegible] last Report, schedule D.

The report says these Polices "Lapsed." They now come under the Massachusetts Lapse Laws, as did Miller's Policy, and any of them would be paid under similar circumstances by our Company.

We Forfeit Nothing!

MRS. MILLER AND HER CHILDREN GOT THE MONEY, her just dues under the Lapse Laws of Massachusetts. The statements made in "Correspondence" are true in letter and in spirit.

FREEDMEN'S SCHOOLS.—The eighth semi-annual report of J W Alvord, General Superintendent of schools among refugees and freedmen, for the six months ending July 1, 1869, just issued contains a great deal of matter of interest The educational returns show decided progress An effort was made with success to organize and indorse schools for the preparation of teachers Thirty nine, with 5,377 pupils, are reported The following is a summary of the statistics.

Day and night schools, 2,118, Sabbath schools, 1,196. Total, 3,314 Teachers in day and night schools, 2,455, teachers in Sabbath schools, 4,454. Total, 7,909 Pupils in day and night schools, 114,522, pupils in Sabbath schools, 89,731. Total, 204,253 Of these pupils 192,227 are reported as having been slaves before the war. Of the above day and night schools the freedmen sustained wholly or in part 1,581, and are the owners of 759 of the buildings in which the schools are held The bureau furnished 772 of the buildings used for educational purposes

The inhabitants of Burmah have an idea that pulling at a rope will produce rain Two parties tug against each. One is a rain party, the other is a fair weather party. By previous arrangement, the rain party are allowed to be victorious. On the occasion of the late continued drouth this proceeding was attended with the happiest results.

THE RAILROAD IRON continues to arrive by hundreds of tons The Webfoot having a locomotive on board is on her way to our city, and everything to facilitate the building of the great Railroad is progressing as well, as those Nonpareil Beaver Suits and those extra Scotch Chinchilla "Roundabouts" are selling at KOHN & FISHER'S, whose Stock of CLOTHING and GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS is the handsomest ever imported to Oregon, and their principle of selling with SMALL PROFITS proves a benefit to the public as well as to themselves. Their Stock of DRY GOODS is positively offered at COST

The subjoined ... sufficiently explains itself

PORTLAND, Oregon, Nov 15, 1869

Messrs EVERSON & HAINES, General Agents New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, Boston:

Gentlemen:—On my own behalf and in the name of my orphan children, I beg to thank you, and through you the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, for its munificence in paying me my terminated policy on the life of my husband On the 21st January, 1869, misfortune compelled me to forego the payment of the last premium—which non-payment in any other company would have lost me my policy—but I am now overjoyed with the receipt of the amount of the policy (less the amount of the unpaid premium only), thanks to the equity of the Massachusetts Lapse Laws, that must bless many widows and their children I recommend the New England Mutual to all who would provide against possible misfortune I sincerely thank you again, gentlemen, for the payment, and also for your generous and gentlemanly assistance in the matter

Respectfully, BETSEY MILLER.

PORTLAND, OREGON Nov 16, 1869

Messrs EVERSON & HAINES General Agents of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston

Gentlemen,—Having taken a lively interest in the affairs of the large and destitute family, left by an old resident of this city, who died Aug 2, 1869, and who was insured in the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, we take pleasure in making the following statement for the information of the public:

A E O Miller was insured by ordinary Life Policy No 13,054, bearing date January 21, 1863. He paid annual payments to January 21, 1868, inclusive Since then nothing has been paid He died August 2, 1869, over eighteen months after last payment of premium, yet your company working under the Equitable Lapse Laws of Massachusetts, pays the widow and orphans the whole policy, deducting only the premium due while in all other companies doing business here, about which we know anything, the policy would long since have been forfeited.

By the New England Mutual, the widow has been paid $4,650 50, This we consider munificent, more especially when we take into consideration that the family would not have received a cent from any other company doing business on this coast. This in our estimation is enough to recommend this company above all others This is Equity, this is Mutuality We, therefore, commend this company to the public, as the only company that has no forfeitures

We herewith inclose you the acknowledgments of the widow

Respectfully yours etc

What is a Tonic?

Bear this in mind—that although a tonic is a certain extent a stimulant—a stimulant unmodified by any medicinal substance is not a tonic but a DEBILITANT In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country Every fiery and corrosive fluid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce is expelled from the rye spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS by careful and repeated rectification The juices of the valuable roots barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain still further modify its nature so that it becomes in fact a simple diffusive agent unusual the heady and brain exciting properties which belong more or less to all liquors in a raw state It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which render the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective—increasing their active power and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant and gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS Instead of creating headache as unmodified stimulants are apt to do this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint It calms and soothes cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves promotes the secretion of the gastric juice invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface improves the appetite increases the animal vigor regulates organic action and from its mild yet effective alterative qualities is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them

The Chinese

REPORT OF THE AGENT SENT BY THE MEMPHIS CONVENTION.

[From the New Orleans Times, Nov. 2]

We had the pleasure yesterday of meeting and conversing with General W. K. Miles, who has just returned from California, to which State he was sent by the Immigrant and Labor Convention held at Memphis last July, for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon Chinese labor, its adaptability to the wants of the South and the practicability of its cheap introduction. General Miles devoted one month to traveling in California, the country and observing and studying the people and their institutions. In advance of his report we can state that the General confirmed the opinions of all intelligent and impartial persons who have visited California, as to the great value, superiority and cheapness of Chinese labor. An active, sagacious and inquisitive gentleman, he made a thorough and minute examination into the manners, habits and customs of the Chinese. He visited the various establishments in which they are employed, the woolen factories, the machine shops, the foundries, the farms, the mines and on railroads, in fine every department of industry and manufactures, and he found in every relation and position they were regarded as the cheapest, most reliable and trustworthy laborers in the State. As house servants they are esteemed as incomparably superior to all others in their cleanliness, docility and fidelity. Their labor can be obtained at about one-third the rate paid for other labor. It is for this reason they are persecuted and oppressed by certain classes in California. These classes, embracing a large number of voters, political aspirants and party leaders, find it to their interest to sanction the denunciation of the Chinese, but even these admitted to General Miles that for the Southern plantation there could be no better laborers. General Miles assures us that the Chinese are more than extraordinary shrewd in making a bargain and taking care of themselves. All that they ask is protection when they come into our country, and the enjoyment of the rights which have been promised to them under the Burlingame treaty.

Though the mission and purpose of General Miles were seriously interfered with and discouraged by Boutwell's letter to the Collector of New Orleans, he had every assurance that if proper security be afforded against any attempts on the part of the Government to prevent the introduction of these laborers the full demand of the South could be in a few years satisfied, at rates which would render it the cheapest and best labor in the world, and thus add enormously to the productive wealth and the improvement of our section.

Woman Suffrage in Massachusetts—An Important Step in Advance.

[From the Springfield Republican Nov. 4.]

When Senator Monroe gave his vote against the petition for woman suffrage, last year, he little thought how it would return to plague him, and almost prevent his re-election. Mrs. Lane, of Lynn, the head of the woman's branch of the labor-reform organization, with two other women, enlisted in Monroe's district in Colonel Greene's behalf, and not only canvassed it beforehand, but actually distributed votes at the polls, one at each of the three principal voting places; Mrs. Lane herself taking charge of Brookline, where her candidate lives. A few more such women would have carried the day for the gallant colonel; as it was, he was supposed to be chosen until the voting places were heard from where no women were at work. Mrs. Lane is a quiet, ladylike person, singularly in earnest on the relations of labor and capital, about which she talks eloquently, and with the thoughtful devotion of heart and soul to her cause which George Eliot has portrayed in Felix Holt. She verified Cromwell's remark to the French ambassador, quoted by De Retz "that a man never rises so high as when he knows not whither he is going"—for she did not know what a brave and capital thing she was doing. While Fulton and Bushnell and the rest of them were gravely wagging their heads over the question whether a woman could go to the polls, she went and did it and almost carried the election. Being taken to task for giving her support to a Democrat, when the Republicans have been the most friendly to woman suffrage, she disclaimed any interest in the matter, and declared that she was working only for the interests of labor, with which the Democrats, she said, have more sympathy than the Republicans. This was certainly true as between Monroe and Greene, if not generally applicable. At Worcester, also, three women appeared at the polls and claimed the right to vote. Whether they did so or not, it is a fact that a vote was cast in Worcester for a State ticket headed by a woman, and she Mrs. Anna Shaw Greene, the wife of Colonel Greene, and daughter of the late Robert G. Shaw, of Boston. These incidents of our elections are worth recording, as harbingers of the day, soon to come, when women will vote and be voted for, canvass and be canvassed for, as freely as men, and everybody will say it is a good thing. We don't believe Senator Monroe means to vote against woman suffrage again, for where three women rallied against him this year, thirty would the next time he is up for office.

WYOMING LEGISLATORS.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune sends the following interesting item from Cheyenne, under the date of October 30th:

"There are some curious fellows in the Legislature here, and the following will serve to illustrate points in the character of a couple of these worthies:

Soon after the Legislature had been called to meet at Cheyenne, by the Governor, two Senators, or Councilors, as they are called here, met, when the following dialogue took place:

'Hallo, Sam! Will you be ready to go down to the Legislature on the 12th?'

'No, Bill, I ain't going!'

'Why?'

'Because, I'm going to White Pine.'

'What for, Sam?'

'I'm going to fight Pete.'

'Pete who?'

'Why, my dorg Pete, of course.'

'How much is bet?'

'Wall, Bill, if you must know all about it—and I s'pose I oughter to tell, as you and I are cohokers (colleagues,) as them Washington fellers say—fact is, my dorg Pete has chawed up everything of dorg kind around these are diggings, and I can't get nary another fight. Now, I hearn tell them fellers up at White Pine have a dorg that they think is some, and they're willing to bet their pile of dust on him. So I'm just going to take Pete up thar and skin 'em out of their dust. I kin make more that way than going down to the Legislature.'"

They are, just now, having in New Orleans what the journals of that city call a "bread war," caused by the authorities seizing bread which is of a lighter weight than that prescribed by the city ordinance. New Orleans, like most of the great cities of Europe, has what is called an "assize of bread." By this assize of bread, the weight of the loaf is adjusted to the price of flour. At present, the average price of fresh flour being $6.40 per barrel, the price of bread has been fixed as follows: Sixty-four ounces of bread for twenty cents, thirty-two ounces for ten cents and sixteen ounces for five cents. At these prices and weights the bakers are required to use only the very best flour of the above value per barrel, and the use of damaged or inferior flour in bread offered for sale is prohibited.

We shall shortly have the long promised volume of hitherto unpublished works by the poet Heine, not however the memoirs which some say have been purchased from his brother by the Austrian government. The editor of the new volume, Herr Strodtmann, says of the poems in the book that a few of those produced in latter years are marked by Heine's well known bitterness at that time, but that others display as none of his other works have done, characteristics of exquisite grace and beauty. The new prose writings composed between his thirtieth and fortieth year are mainly a collection of thoughts on art, literature, religion, philosophy, the State and society. The author's corrections are so numerous in some instances as to render the MS almost illegible.

HOAGLAND'S NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

FORM OF PROPOSAL, GUARANTEE, AND CERTIFICATE.

Proposal.

The undersigned [illegible], whose post office address is [illegible], county of [illegible], State of [illegible], proposes to convey the mails of the United States, from July 1, 1870, to June 30, 1874, on route No. [illegible], between [illegible] and [illegible], under the advertisement of the Postmaster General, dated September 30, 1869, with celerity, certainty and security, for the annual sum of [illegible] dollars.

This proposal is made with full knowledge of the distance of the route, the weight of the mail to be carried, and all other particulars in reference to the route and service, and also after careful examination of the laws and instructions attached to the advertisement.
Dated (Signed.)

Guarantee.

The undersigned [illegible] of [illegible], State of [illegible], undertake that if the foregoing bid for carrying the mail on route No. [illegible] be accepted by the Postmaster General, the bidder shall, prior to the 1st day of July 1870, enter into the required obligation, or contract to perform the service proposed, with good and sufficient sureties.

This we do understanding distinctly the obligations and liabilities assumed by guarantors under the 27th section of the act of Congress of July 2, 1836.
Dated (Signed by two guarantors.)

Certificate.

The undersigned [illegible] postmaster at [illegible], State of [illegible], certifies under his oath of office, that he is acquainted with the above guarantors and knows them to be men of property and able to make good their guarantee.
Dated (Signed.)
Cal., Oregon and Wash. [illegible]

INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS AND POSTMASTERS.

Containing also conditions to be incorporated in the contracts to the extent the Department may deem proper.

1. Seven minutes are allowed to each intermediate office, when not otherwise specified, for assorting the mails on railroad and steamboat lines where there is to be no more delay than is sufficient for an exchange of the mail pouches.

2. On railroad and steamboat lines and other routes where the mode of conveyance admits of it the special agents of the Post Office Department, also post office blanks, mail bags, locks and keys are to be conveyed without extra charge.

3. On railroad and steamboat lines the route agents of the Department, also the British and Canada mails when offered and the agents accompanying them, are conveyed without charge, and for the use of the United States agents a compartment in a car, or part of a car properly lighted, warmed, and furnished and adapted to the convenient separation, and due security of the mails is to be provided by the contractor under the direction of the Department.

Railroad and steamboat companies are required to take the mail from, and deliver it into, the postoffices at the beginning and end of their routes, and to and from all offices not more than eighty rods from a station or landing. Proposals may be submitted by the companies for the performance of all other side services—that is for offices over eighty rods from a station or landing.

There will be way bills prepared by postmasters, or other agents of the Department, to accompany the mails conveyed on railroads and steamers, specifying the number and destination of the several bags. On other principal routes like way receipts will be required and way bills forwarded, the latter to be examined by the several postmasters to insure regularity in the delivery of mails.

4. No pay will be made for trips not performed and for each of such omissions, not satisfactorily explained, three times the pay of the trip will be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connection with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. For repeated delinquencies of the kind herein specified enlarged penalties, proportioned to the nature thereof and the importance of the mail, may be made.

5. For leaving behind or throwing off the mails, or any portion of them for the admission of passengers, or for being concerned in setting up or running an express conveying intelligence in advance of the mail, a quarter's pay may be deducted.

6. Fines will be imposed unless the delinquency be promptly and satisfactorily explained by certificates of postmasters or the affidavits of other credible persons, for failing to arrive in contract time; for neglecting to take the mail from or into a post office; for suffering it to be wet, injured, destroyed, robbed or lost, and for refusing after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running a coach, car, or steamboat on a route.

7. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failures to run agreeably to contract, for violating the post office laws, or disobeying the instructions of the Department, for refusing to discharge a carrier when required by the Department to do so, for running an express as aforesaid, or for transporting persons or packages conveying mailable matter out of the mail.

8. The Postmaster General may order an increase of service, on a route, by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay. He may change schedules of departures and arrivals in all cases, and particularly to make them conform to connections with railroads, without increase of pay, provided the running time be not abridged. The Postmaster General may also discontinue or curtail the service, in whole or in part, in order to place on the route superior service, or whenever the public interests, in his judgment, shall require such discontinuance or curtailment for any other cause; he allowing as full indemnity to the contractor one month's extra pay on the amount of service dispensed with, and a pro rata compensation for the amount of service retained.

9. Payments will be made by collections or by drafts on postmasters, or otherwise, after the expiration of each quarter, say in November, February, May and August.

10. The distances given are believed to be substantially correct; but no increased pay will be allowed should they be greater than advertised, if the points to be supplied are correctly stated. Bidders must inform themselves on this point, and also in reference to the weight of the mail, the condition of the roads, hills, streams &c., and all toll bridges, ferries or obstructions of any kind by which expense may be incurred. No claim for additional pay, based on such ground, can be considered, nor for alleged mistakes or misapprehension as to the degree of service; nor for bridges destroyed, ferries discontinued, or other obstructions increasing distance, occurring during the contract term. Offices established after this advertisement is issued, and also during the contract term, are to be visited without extra pay, if the distance be not increased.

11. Bidders are cautioned to mail their proposals in time to reach the Department by the day and hour named (3 p m, of [illegible]) for bids received after that time will not be considered in competition with a bid of reasonable amount received in time. Neither can bids be considered which are without the guarantee required by law and a certificate of the sufficiency of such guarantee.

12. Bids should be for the entire service, with specifications for each route separately, [illegible] the lowest bid or [illegible] who has been a [illegible]

13. There should be but one route bid for in a proposal. [illegible]

14. [illegible]

[illegible]

Each bid must be guaranteed by two responsible persons. The bid and guarantee should be signed plainly with the full name of each person.

The Department reserves the right to reject any bid which may be deemed extravagant; and also to disregard the bids of failing contractors and bidders. (Act of June 2, 1866.)

15. The bid should be sealed, superscribed "Mail Proposals, State of [illegible]," addressed "Second Assistant Postmaster General, Contract Office," and sent by mail, not by or to an agent; and postmasters will not receive proposals for letters of agents or deliver them.

16. The contracts are to be executed and returned to the Department on or before the [illegible] day of July 1870, but the service must begin on that day, or on the first day next after [illegible] contracts are executed or not.

17. Transfers of contracts or of interest in contracts are forbidden by law, and consequently cannot be allowed. Bidders should therefore take notice that they will be expected to perform the service awarded to them through the whole contract term.

18. Postmasters at offices near railroads but more than eighty rods from a depot, will immediately after the [illegible] of March [illegible] their exact distances [illegible] enable the Postmaster General to [illegible] messenger supply from the 1st of July [illegible].

19. [illegible] Congress approved March [illegible] [illegible] every case, to [illegible] guarantee for [illegible] the mode of [illegible] necessary to provide the [illegible] of such [illegible]. [illegible] and security is [illegible]. The only real bids are [illegible] larger, [illegible] sureties are [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible].

20. A [illegible] and cannot be [illegible] certificate is the only way [illegible].

21. Postmasters are cautioned to be careful not to [illegible] guarantors without [illegible] responsibility [illegible]. A [illegible] guarantors [illegible] liabilities will be enforced against them.

22. [illegible] equally with others [illegible] sufficiency [illegible] in the form above prescribed. The certificate of sufficiency must be signed by a postmaster or by a Judge [illegible] of record. No other will be admitted.

JNO. A. J. CRESWELL,
Postmaster General.

BURTONS BALSAMIC COMPOUND

THE GRAND DESIDERATUM OF THE AGE

AMONG THE MOST PAINFUL AND [illegible] ordeals to which the human frame is [illegible] those engendered by affections of the organs [illegible] resulting either from the contaminating [illegible] restrained passion or a constitutional [illegible] infirmity. Nothing tends more to impair [illegible] undermine the very foundation of life, than the [illegible] neglect or improper treatment of such [illegible].

In the former case, the malady becomes [illegible] often incurable, and in the latter, the [illegible] weakened, and in many cases destroyed by [illegible] of powerful and deleterious medicines.

The BALSAMIC COMPOUND, after a [illegible] ful experience, is now confidently submitted to the public as an infallible and safe specific for those [illegible] and widely spread diseases above referred to [illegible] plaints of the Urinary and Genital Organs.

As a Preventive of these deplorable [illegible] often the result of indiscretion, the Balsam [illegible] will be unfailing in its efficacy. It possesses the advantages of being taken without any [illegible] tion in diet, and as it is a purely vegetable [illegible] may in all cases be used with perfect safety.
